

SPIRIT-LED NEWS

Sunday is

A DAY OF WORSHIP

From "Living the Gift of Sunday"

FROM THE RICHES OF OUR FAITH

Our society often reinforces within us an egocentric, overly individualistic worldview. It is all too easy for us to construct for ourselves a myth of being self-made men and women. We easily forget the Gospel truth that all is a gift, and all is from God. We need to worship, in all humility, our Creator, who is all-holy, all-powerful, all-loving, and all-forgiving. He is our source, our sustenance, and our goal.

"Jesus' gift of himself in the sacrament which is the memorial of his passion tells us that the success of our lives is found in our participation in the trinitarian life offered to us truly and definitively in him. The celebration and worship of the Eucharist enable us to draw near to God's love and to persevere in that love until we are united with the Lord whom we love. The offering of our lives, our fellowship with the whole community of believers and our solidarity with all men and women are essential aspects of...

spiritual worship, holy and pleasing to God (Cf. Romans 12:1), which transforms every aspect of our human existence, to the glory of God" (Sacramentum Caritatis, 94).

God demands worship from us, His creatures, whom He made and keeps in existence. The type of worship He demands is worship made "in spirit and in truth," communally offered in the Church, a renewal and re-presentation of the ultimate act of worship, the death of His Son on the Cross.

It has been said that the most perfect of prayers is also the simplest. Two words. "Thank you!" It is no coincidence that the Great Prayer of the Church is the same, the meaning of the word "Eucharist" is to "give thanks."

The greatest human activity is to worship God and give thanks for God's goodness. The world may see the worship of God through the Mass as something finite, yet the reality of the sacrifice of Christ allows the faithful to enter the infinite life of love of the Blessed Trinity.

LIVE IT!

- Reflect on how you can order every part of your life to show that God is God and give Him your entire self. Give God your love, praise, and thanksgiving. As a family, talk about one main thing that struck each of you from the homily at Sunday Mass.
- Meditate on the aspects of Sunday worship that are most meaningful to you. Share your insights on worship with family and friends.
- Meditate upon a poem, symphony, opera, painting, sculpture, ballet, or other work of art and let your soul savor the majesty of God in the gift of Beauty.

SUNDAY STEWARDSHIP REFLECTION

By Catholic Stewardship Consultants

In our Gospel, Jesus says, "Love one another as I have loved you." The way Jesus has loved us and continues to love us are endless.

We are called to imitate this love. And He tells us the greatest way to do this when He said, "No one has greater love than this, to lay down one's life for one's friends."

It is difficult to live that out in our humanity. Yet, it is made much easier when we faithfully love Christ. The fact of the matter is, as our love for Christ increases, so too does our capacity to love others.

There are countless moments when we can do just that – for instance, waking up Saturday morning to attend daily Mass instead of sleeping in, or talking to God in the car on the way to work instead of listening to music. These are simple ways to express our love for the Lord by laying down our lives for Him.

The more we find ways to love the Lord, the more we will find it easier to put aside our selfishness and serve others.

Christ's command to love others may seem daunting. Yet, Christ would never ask something of us that we cannot live out. All we need to do is take baby steps. Ask yourself, "How can I better love Jesus right now?" for it is in loving Christ that we will better love others, and it is in loving other that we love Christ Himself.

"Beloved, Let us love one another, because love is of God."

~ 1 JOHN 4:7

MAY IS THE MONTH OF MARY

MARY: THE MOTHER OF MY LORD.

"Hail, full of grace, the Lord is with you! Blessed are you among women!" Luke 1:28

Some Christians criticize the Catholic Church for elevating Mary with the title: Mother of God. They claim that this title for Mary is not found in the Bible.

Now it may be true that the Bible does not dogmatically teach Mary as the Mother of God; however, inspired by the Holy Spirit, Elizabeth refers to Mary as "the mother of my Lord": And it came about that Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the baby leaped in her womb; and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit. And she cried out with a loud voice, and said, "Blessed among women are you, and blessed is the fruit of your womb! And how has it happened to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?" [Luke 1:41-43; NASB]

The title, lord, is generally given to the main provider. After the Babylonian captivity, Jews commonly referred to God as Lord, especially since His name, YHWH, could not be uttered. Most modern English translations of the Old Testament render the Tetragrammaton, YHWH, as LORD. Even The American Heritage Dictionary recognizes Lord (with a capital "L") as God.

The first chapter of Luke's Gospel frequently uses the title, Lord, for example: "the commandments and requirements of the Lord" [Luke 1:6], "the temple of the Lord" [Luke 1:9] and "an angel of the Lord" [Luke 1:11]. This title exclusively refers to God. It would be quite strange if "Lord" in Luke 1:43 would be an exception.

One may argue that Elizabeth uses the phrase "my Lord" instead of "the Lord", so it means something else. This argument is weak at best. Elizabeth as a devout Jew recognized God as her Lord. The psalmists refer to God as "my God" and "my Lord" as in Psalm 35(34):23.

Matthew's Gospel also supports Mary as the Mother of God. In the first chapter, Mary's Child is said to be conceived by the Holy Spirit:

... for that which has been conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit. [Matt 1:20; also see 18]

This is definitely not a pregnancy conceived by normal means [Matt 1:23]. In the second chapter, the three Magi come to see the Christ Child:

And they came into the house and saw the Child with Mary His mother; and they fell down and worshiped Him. [Matt 2:11]

Now the Magi were pagans; however, it is difficult to believe that St. Matthew would record their worship of the Child in such a positive manner, if Mary's Child was not God. If Mary is not the Mother of God, then the Bible in this verse would condone idolatry.

Nestorius, the patriarch of Constantinople, in 428 A.D. declared that Mary could not be the Mother of God, since a creature could not bear the Creator. Later he also denied the Christ Child as God, since God could never be a helpless infant. Taking this faulty line of reasoning further, one must ask whether God really could suffer and shed His Blood on the Cross for our sins. The fundamental problem with Nestorius is that he did not completely accept the Incarnation [Galatians 4:4].

Even today some Christians claim that Mary was only the mother of Christ's human nature. This sounds plausible until one realizes the fact that a mother gives birth to a person and not a nature. When a woman gives birth to only nature, it is called a stillbirth.

Mary is not divine. Since God created her, she did not exist before God; however, as the Worthy Vessel (made worthy by God), she gave birth to the living Person, Jesus Christ. She gave birth to the Second Person of the Holy Trinity, God the Son, a Divine Person. Jesus Christ is a single Person and not two; He is not schizophrenic. As proclaimed by the Tome of Leo in the Ecumenical Council of Chalcedon (451 A.D.), Jesus is a Divine Person with two natures: a divine nature and a human nature. Since Mary is truly the Mother of the Person, Jesus Christ and Jesus Christ is truly God, then it logically follows that Mary is the Mother of God. To deny this conclusion, one must deny either that Mary is truly the Mother of Christ or that Christ is truly God.

It must be rightfully understood that God willed to be born of a woman (Gal. 4:4), to be a Child, to suffer and die on the Cross. Nothing is impossible for God, except to sin. The one Jesus Christ is truly the "Son of God" (Luke 1:35; John 1:14,18) and the "Son of Mary" (Luke 2:34). The denial of Mary as the Mother of God is a subtle attack against the true divinity of Jesus Christ and His Incarnation: "the Word was God [John 1:1] ... And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us" [John 1:14]. Printed with permission from A Catholic Response, Inc.

MAY CROWNS, MARY GARDENS, AND EUCHARISTIC FLOWERS

By Katie Bogner

The warmth of springtime brings bursts of color across the landscape. Trees bud, flowers bloom, and gardens begin to grow. All this beauty naturally points us to God. As a matter of fact, when we read about the apparition of Our Lady of Guadalupe, we find that the indigenous people Our Lady was sent to evangelize believed—even before they learned about Christianity—that the gods communicated by way of flor y canto: flowers and song. The month of May, traditionally dedicated to Mary, is a perfect time to utilize the beauty of the natural world to honor the Queen of Heaven, who can point us to Jesus in the Eucharist.

Many symbols remind us of the Blessed Virgin Mary, like stars, rosaries, crowns, and her Immaculate Heart. These Marian symbols can be found in art, church décor, sacramentals, holy cards, and more from across the centuries. Each tells us a little about the Blessed Virgin Mary and her role in salvation history. The symbols also show us the connection between Mary and Jesus. As the Mother of God, everything she does leads us to know, love, and follow her Son.

In his letter Ecclesia de Eucharistia, Pope Saint John Paul II invited the whole Church to contemplate the face of Christ in the school of Mary. We can learn from Mary how to draw close to Jesus. In a particular way, she helps us deepen our Eucharistic faith. “To contemplate Christ involves being able to recognize him wherever he manifests himself, in his many forms of presence, but above all in the living sacrament of his body and his blood. The Church draws her life from Christ in the Eucharist; by him she is fed and by him she is enlightened. The Eucharist is both a mystery of faith and a ‘mystery of light’.” (Ecclesia de Eucharistia, no. 6). It is Mary, the woman of faith who first bore Jesus in her womb, that points us most marvelously to Jesus in the Eucharist. This is why we refer to Our Lady as Mother of the Blessed Sacrament.

MARY GARDENS

A common Marian symbol is flowers. We often think specifically of roses in association with Our Lady, but there are actually hundreds of flowers with Marian names and meanings.

In the Middle Ages, flowers were given religious names as a little way to sanctify, or make holy, an everyday object. These names came from traditions associated with the plant or symbolism that could be matched to its shape, color, or use. The titles highlighted things like events from the life of Jesus or virtues of Mary and the saints. When intentionally grown together, these flowers are called a Mary Garden. While most of these names have fallen out of popular use, we can bring back the Mary Garden names as a way to celebrate our faith and honor the role of Mary as the Mother of our Savior.

Here are some common flowers and their Marian titles:

- Daffodil: Mary’s Star
- Iris: Sword of Sorrow
- Lavender: Mary’s Drying Plant
- Lily of the Valley: Mary’s Tears
- Morning Glory: Our Lady’s Mantle
- Sunflower: Mary’s Gold
- Tulip: Mary’s Prayer
- Zinnia: The Virgin

Just as everything about Mary points us to Christ, even Mary Gardens can help us to call to mind the gift of the Eucharist while enjoying the beauty of nature. There are several flowers with traditional names connected to Jesus’ Passion and the Blessed Sacrament:

- Fuchsia: Christ’s Blood Drops
- Oriental Poppy: The Crucifixion Flower
- Passion Flower: The Five Wounds of Christ
- St. John’s Wort: Christ’s Sweat

- Lunaria Honesty Plant: connected with the Eucharist because of its similar shape to Communion hosts
- Eucharist Lily: named for its radiant white color and sweet fragrance
- Basil: Holy Communion Plant, called such because it was used to decorate Communion rails

Knowing the Christian name for these flowers can create small catechetical opportunities. In your garden or landscaping at home, consider growing a few plants with Eucharistic and Marian names. Teach them to your children or grandchildren, pointing out the meaning behind the title. If choosing flowers for a First Communion or Confirmation party this spring, or even deciding on the bouquets that will decorate the altar for Holy Mass, use flowers with layers of symbolism pointing to Jesus and Mary. We can enrich our worship by filling our homes and churches with beauty, which teaches us the truths of our faith.

Children commonly pick little flowers and sweetly offer them to their mom as an act of love. In the same way, we can gather flowers—whether from our garden, the florist, or the grocery store—and bring a bouquet to our heavenly Mother to show our love and ask for her prayers, all the while letting her gently lead us closer to Jesus. During May, many parishes and schools will host a May Crowning to honor Mary. Singing songs, presenting flowers, and crowning a statue or image of the Blessed Mother brings the community together to celebrate and pray. Families can replicate this devotion at home, creating their own shrine with a Mary statue in their home or yard. A May crowning doesn't have to be fancy in order to have an impact on children—even a fistful of dandelions and a simple, heartfelt prayer can show our Lord the gratitude we have that he shares his Mother with us.

FAMILY ACTIVITY IDEAS

- Create your own family Marian Shrine. Use a Mary statue. Decorate the shrine with flowers (real or artificial) and candles (real or battery-operated).
- Have a simple May Crowning together as a family. Make a crown for a Mary statue in your home or yard from flowers. Sing a Marian song (like “Immaculate Mary,” “Hail Holy Queen,” or “Flowers of the Rarest”) and say a prayer together (like the Hail Mary or Hail Holy Queen) as you place the crown on Mary.
- Research a few flowers with Marian or Eucharistic names like those included in this article. See which grow well in your area and plant a few. As you plant and care for them, think of how much care God gives to creation. When they bloom, enjoy the beauty that they bring to the world and think about the symbolism carried by their name.
- Learn about Marian symbols so that you and your children recognize hints of Mary in church art and architecture. Think about how Marian symbols point to what we believe to be true about Jesus.

Busy Bees Newsletter
MAY/ JUNE 2024

Summer is almost here!

Aloha!

May and June are busy months as we will be preparing for the end of the school year. At this time, we would like to thank the parents and grandparents who have graciously given their time to help with all the fun activities for our preschool, such as field trips and memorable programs. In addition, we would like to give a special thank you to our Kiddy's Fund Scholarship organizer, Mr. Dan Del Monte, for giving us the opportunity to award two students with scholarships. We truly appreciate all of you!

For our studies, we will be focusing on our bodies and the changes our students have experienced throughout this school year. We will discuss topics on good health through proper nutrition, regular exercise, good hygiene, sleep, and rest.

The children will also be learning the songs for our Graduation and Aloha Program.

Please mark your calendars and save the date to join us as we celebrate the end of our school year.

Respect Life: “Radical solidarity compels us to come alongside vulnerable mothers in profound friendship, compassion, and support for both them and their preborn children. It requires us to address the fundamental challenges that lead an expectant mother to believe she is unable to welcome the child God has entrusted to her. We must do all we can to provide mothers, children, and families with the support they need to flourish. This cannot be accomplished by laws or policy alone, but requires the continual transformation of our own hearts, recognizing in every person the face of Christ, and placing their needs before our own.”
